ALGIERS, February 12.

THE 6th Inſtant, a French Tartan arrived here from Marſeilles, having on board ſome Preſents for the defunct Dey, and for the Grandees of his Court. The Dutch Frigate, the Vrouw Elizabeth Cornelia, which came into our Road the ſame Day, brought him alſo a Preſent on the Part of the Bey of Tripoli, of 60 Orange and Lemon Trees, and ſeveral Tons of Salt.

There are brought into our Port three Spaniſh Prizes, one of which is laden with Anchovies and Pilchards. An Engliſh Frigate is alſo brought in, which our Corſairs ſeized on Suſpicion of being under falſe Colours, but ſhe will be releaſed; her Cargo conſiſts principally of Maſts, deſigned for America. The Spaniards, in Revenge, have taken two of our Corſairs, and ſunk a third. We have ſtill nine of them at Sea; a Xebeck of 24 Guns is juſt launched; and two others are finiſhed, the one of 16, the other of 24 Guns.

Madrid, March 27. As ſoon as the Populace, who had riſen on Account of the Edict concerning the Prohibition of long Cloaks, was appeaſed, [See No. 27.] the King ſet out on the 25th in the Morning for Aranjuez; but the People roſe again, under Pretence that their Fidelity was ſuſpected. They deſired the King to return to his Capital, but he aſſured them, that he had no Doubt of their Loyalty, though he did not chooſe to come back to Madrid till Order and Tranquillity were reſtored. This Anſwer was communicated to the People on the 26th in the Morning, by the Secretary of the Council of Caſtille. Hereupon they immediately diſperſed, and every Thing is now quiet.

The Marquis and the Marchioneſs de Squillace are gone to Carthagena, where they intend to embark with their Family for Naples. The King has given the Adminiſtration of the Finances to Don Miguel Mouzquiz, firſt Commiſſioner of that Department, and Secretary of the Sovereign Council of War.

LONDON, April 14.

Letters from Paris, of the 31ſt of March, ſay, that the new Parliament of Brittany having petitioned the King to reſtore the old Members to their Places, the Count de St. Florentin wrote them Word, that they were not to flatter themſelves, that his Majeſty would make any Change in his Edict of November laſt; and, conſequently, that all they had to hope in this Reſpect, was, that the King would recall ſome of them who were deſerving of partaking of his Majeſty's Goodneſs; but that for the Reſt, the Number of Officers preſcribed by the ſaid Edict would remain invariably fixed.

Extract of Letter from an Officer at Gibraltar.

"I wrote you an Account of the dreadful Storm we had the 31ſt of laſt Month. You deſire that I ſhould give you a circumſtantial Account of the Behaviour of our good Friends the Spaniards; which, in as few Words as poſſible, I will relate to you.

"An Algerine Xebeque (the Algerines are the beſt Friends Great-Britain has in the Mediterranean) having brought in here ſome Time ago, a Spaniſh Prize, Monſieur Crillon, his Catholick Majeſty's General, demanded it, under Pretext of its being taken under the Guns of Gibraltar. Upon this, Governor Irwin had the Affair ſtrictly examined into, when it was clearly proved, that the Ship was taken many Leagues off, and even that a Spaniſh Fort was between Gibraltar and the Place where the Capture was made. All theſe Examinations he ſent to the Spaniſh General, but Crillon ſtill inſiſted on the Prize; and the Storm happening about this Time, he was ſo well aſſured that the greater Part of the Garriſon was deſtroyed, and the Works demoliſhed, that he thought he might take Advantage of our Diſtreſſes, to impoſe whatever Terms he thought proper:—In a Word, he declared, if he had not the Ship immediately, he would ſhut up the Communication between us and the Continent; and ſuch was his Impatience, that he would not wait for an Anſwer to his Demand; for while General Irwin was writing to him, two Officers were ſtopped from going into Spain.

"In Conſequence of this, our Governor ſent him Word, that with Regard to the Prize, he would order it to be bought, and the Courts of London and Madrid ſhould be left to decide the Property; but with Reſpect to the Shutting up the Communication, he thought he had been too precipitate,—however, from that Moment he ſhould look upon it as ſtopped, nor would he conſent to its being again opened, till he received Orders from the King of England to do ſo.

"Monſieur de Crillon was ſurpriſed at this Firmneſs in General Irwin, whom he thought would do any thing rather than quarrel with him: Ever ſince he has wrote the kindeſt Letters, propoſed to come and dine here; ſuch was his Eagerneſs to ſee us. This not being encouraged, he deſired to meet General Irwin at the advanced Poſts, but this was alſo refuſed. However the Governor wrote him, that if he had any Thing material to ſay, he would conſent to a Meeting on board one of his Majeſty's Ships of War in the Bay:—And as Crillon was conſcious of his being greatly in the Wrong, he condeſcended.

"They meet Yeſterday on board Commodore Harriſon. Crillon preſſed much to have the Communication opened, but our Governor as poſitively refuſed it. You are alſo to obſerve, that ſince that Affair Mr. Irwin has always wrote to the Spaniſh General in Engliſh, though it has been the Cuſtom for the Governors of Gibraltar to have a Spaniſh Secretary to write for them; but upon this Occaſion General Irwin inſiſted upon treating in his own Language, which, he ſays, is the only one he underſtands, and Crillon ſubmits to it.

"I leave your own good Senſe to comment upon the Behaviour on both Sides."

Extract of a Letter from Mr. John Potter, late Surgeon on board the Rainbow, Captain Gill, dated Kingſton, Jamaica, January 28.

"We arrived here about a Fortnight ago in the Ship True Blue, commanded by Captain William Hatton; which ſaid Ship was unfortunately ſet on Fire, and blown up in the River Benin, October 19th laſt, occaſioned by a Spark of Fire falling out of a Pipe (which one of the Seamen was ſmoaking Tobacco with) into the Arm-Cheſt, which lay upon Deck with the Fire-Arms ready loaded, for Fear of being ſurprized by a Set of Pirates called Joes, who have ſince our laſt Voyage ſtopt the Trade and Buſineſs of that River, taking the Ships Boats as they paſs from the Ships to the Factories on Shore, or return back. They not only take the Goods, &c. but they make the White Men Priſoners, ſome of whom they have ranſomed, others they detain. They attacked the True Blue, Capt. William Hatton, and would have taken her had it not been prevented by our Cannon and Small-Arms, which luckily we had then ready and fired upon them. The Day after our Arrival in Benin River, Mr. Stuart, with three of our People, were taken by thoſe Savages, in their Paſſage up the River, in our ſmall Boat, as they were going to a Factory, and knew nothing of thoſe Villains. Two of the People and the Boat we got again, but they would not ranſom Mr. Stuart or the other, notwithſtanding we offered any Sum they demanded. Since that Time we have not heard of them, though every Method we could think of has been taken both by the Captain and myſelf to get them.—The Spark of Fire had no ſooner fallen into the Arm-Cheſt but it blew up, and ſet Fire to the * Thatch, which was like as much Tinder. The Armourer, then cleaning ſome of the Muſquets, with three White Men, and a Number of Slaves, were blown to Pieces. We ſaved about 70 Slaves, and the Remainder of the Ship's Company; 13 Slaves and the White People I brought to the Iſland Princeſs, and there I left all but the Boatſwain, and two Lads, and Mr. Atherton's Servant, who died upon the Paſſage to this Place, on board the True Blue. Our Captain, two Mates, Cooper and Carpenter, with 50 Slaves, were to come in a French Snow, and to ſail in two or three Days after us. We ſhould have made in all Probability a good Voyage, as we had purchaſed 158 Slaves and 750 Cloths, beſides Ivory, and did not expect to have been a Month longer in the River when the Accident happened. I ſaved only the Shirt and Trowſers I had on my Back, as the Fire was ſo rapid that all was conſumed in about an Hour and ten Minutes."

* Veſſels trading in that River, raiſe a Cover over their Veſſels with Straw, Graſs, &c. to prevent the intenſe Heat of the Sun from ſcorching the Decks.

Extract of a Letter from Liſbon, March 4.

"The Veſſels compoſing the Fleet from Rio-Janeiro, have anchored for ſome Days in the Port of this City, to the Number of 26 Sail, four others having ſteered for Oporto, and two remained at Braſil. The Cargo of theſe 30 Veſſels conſiſts of Gold, Silver, Sugar, and Hides, to the Value of 9,000,000 of Cruſades. As to the Ship which is returned from the Eaſt-Indies, ſhe took on board in her Paſſage, in the Bay of All-Saints, a Million of Cruſades, on Account of private Perſons; but ſhe brings no Pepper from Goa, whence it is inferred, that the good Underſtanding between the Portugueſe and Malabars, is not yet reſtored. Eight of the above Fleet arrived in the Tagus, on the 26th laſt, under the Convoy of one of our Men of War of the Line.—The Reſt caſt Anchor at Caſacs, with another Line of Battle Ship in their Rear, and came up with the next Morning's Tide. A Frigate of 40 Guns convoys the four others, belonging to the Department of Oporto, to their Entrance into the Duero. The Particulars of the whole Cargo bro't by them all, as yet come to Hand, are 11 Cheſts of Gold; 800,000 Piaſters in Silver; 5600 Cheſts of Sugar; 4000 Hides in the Hair, &c.

Letters in Town from Spain, bring Accounts of great Commotions at Madrid, which are ſaid to have taken their Riſe from an Order iſſued by his Catholick Majeſty, enjoining the Spaniards to throw off their Cloaks, and dreſs in the Manner they do at Paris. This had ſo exaſperated them, that great Numbers aſſembled at the Palace, and deſired an Audience; but his Majeſty ſent them Word, that if they did not immediately diſperſe, he would order his Guards to fire upon them. This, however, the latter refuſed to do; upon which his Majeſty ſent for his Walloon Guards, who fired, and killed 76. But before they could charge a ſecond Time, the Mob ruſhed in with Spadoes, killed 26 of the Guards, and diſarmed the Reſt, crying out in the Spaniſh Language, The Engliſh for ever, and down with the French.

More recent Advices, juſt received, ſay, that the Riot in Spain took its Riſe from ſeveral oppreſſive and diſagreeable Acts of the King's Italian Miniſter, in particular that for prohibiting the Uſe of the Cloak and broad Beaver; That a young Gentleman being ſtopped near the Palace by a Centinel, for not complying with the Order, he attempted to ſtab the Centinel for intercepting him, who immediately preſented his Muſquet, but did not fire, the Gentleman thereupon gave a Whiſtle, the Signal agreed on, and in a few Minutes ſome Hundreds aſſembled, who were fired upon by the Guards, and, after ſeveral were killed, the Reſt were diſperſed. They ſoon aſſembled, however again, in prodigious Bodies, and overpowered the Guards, after an obſtinate Engagement, in which it is ſaid, 70 or 80 of the Soldiers were killed, they then proceeded to the Houſe of the Marquis de Squilace, who eſcaped out of it by a back Way, having ſent his Carriage, with the Blinds up, a contrary Road, in order to deceive the Populace; which Stratagem taking, they followed the Carriage, thinking to have met with the Miniſter, and coming up with it, tore it to Pieces. They then pulled down the Marquis's Houſe, and afterwards purſued him to the Dutch Ambaſſador's, where he had taken Refuge, but eſcaped alſo from thence, on the Appearance of the Rioters. The Populace being then aſſured by the Dutch Ambaſſador, that the Miniſter was not at his Houſe, they went to the Royal Palace, and inſiſted on ſpeaking with his Majeſty, which being granted, they ſaid they had three Things to propoſe, which if his Majeſty would agree to, they would diſperſe, and continue good Subjects: The firſt was, that his Majeſty ſhould diſcharge his Italian Miniſters, as they were determined to be governed only by their own Countrymen; that the ſeveral offenſive Edicts paſſed ſhould be repealed; and, thirdly, that his Majeſty ſhould give his Royal Word never after to call any Perſon to Account for what had that Day paſſed. Theſe Articles being all complied with, the Rioters immediately diſperſed; and in a few Hours after, the City was as calm as if nothing had happened. On their Return from the Royal Palace, they met the Engliſh Ambaſſador, Lord Rochford, whom they obliged to put on his Cloak and Beaver, which he readily complied with; and they then ſuffered his Lordſhip to paſs, crying out, No French Faſhions; Peace with England, and War with all the World beſide.

Other Letters add, that the Populace had made a large Fire before the King's Palace, in which they conſumed the Bodies of all the Perſons killed in the late Tumult there: Likewiſe that they hanged up three Officers belonging to the Walloon Guards, and inſiſted that his Majeſty ſhould break that Corps.

The French Mediators arrived at Geneva, the 20th ult. and made their Entry with great Pomp; after which they were complimented by all the different Bodies of the Republick. The Conferences, which began ſoon after their Arrival, will probably take up a longer Time before any Thing is decided, ſeeing the Multiplicity and Difficulty of the Points in Diſpute.

April 19. Private Letters received Yeſterday from Madrid, confirm the Accounts of the late Riots there, and add, that the People have long entertained an Averſion to the Italian Miniſter; he having rendered himſelf odious to them on many Occaſions. The Demands made to the King were, firſt, the Repeal of the Edict for altering their Dreſs: Secondly, the leſſening the Price of Bread and Oil: Thirdly, the Suppreſſion of the Company which had undertaken to furniſh Madrid with Proviſions; which demands were all complied with.

BARBADOS.

BRIDGE-TOWN, May 24, 1766.

THE Printers flatter themselves they need make no other Apology for not publishing a Paper on Saturday the 17th Instant, than giving the following melancholy Account of the dreadful Conflagration which happened on Wednesday the 14th. It began at the House of Mr. William Chase, in High-street, about Half after Eleven o'Clock at Night, by what Means we cannot yet learn:—The Flames were next communicated to the House of Jonathan Blenman, Esq; Attorney-General, and the Wind blowing very fresh from the North-east, the Fire took its Course (with the greatest Rapidity almost ever known) through Phillips's Alley into Broad-street, Swan-street, and the Wharf; and in the Course of about four Hours, laid waste every Dwelling-house and Store as far as the Old Church-Yard. The Wind then shifting to the Southward, the Flames returned to the Back-streets and Alleys at the lower End of Broad-street, carrying every Thing before it, till about Nine o'Clock on Thursday Morning, when it was providentially got the better of. The Confusion and Distress of the Inhabitants on this Occasion may be better conceived than described, many losing not only their Habitations, but the major Part of their Furniture and Goods, by not having sufficient Time to remove, or by being obliged to remove them two or three Times. We hear of no Person being burnt, but Captain David Frearson, Commander of the Ship John and Mary, from Liverpool, who lodged in the House where it began.—The Number of principal Houses consumed, including the Custom-House, and other publick Offices, is about 240, the annual Rents of which were 16,421 l. besides a great Number of Stores and Sheds.

Many principal Stores at the East End of the Town, well filled with Provisions, have, by God's great Goodness, escaped the Fire; and no Day has passed since, without the Arrival of one or more Provision Vessels, which have entirely relieved us from the dreadful Apprehensions of immediate Want.

And, as it must afford general Satisfaction to each Reader to be informed of the Benevolence and Charity of the Publick, several Contributions have been made, and large Benefactions received, for the present Relief of the poor distressed Sufferers; and our legislative Bodies are daily sitting, and taking into Consideration every Expedient for the Rebuilding of the Town, and our future Safety.

His Excellency, who had fixed the Time of his Departure to the 30th of this Month, has good-naturedly postponed it until Tuesday the 27th; and we flatter ourselves with the Hopes that he will make such Representation of the dreadful Calamity to our Royal Sovereign, as will induce his Majesty to extend his gracious Bounty to the Relief of his distressed Colony.

On Thursday last, the Rev. Mr. Thomas Warton, and William-Thorpe Holder, Esq; paid unto the Committee for receiving Donations, the Sum of 302 l. collected by them in the Parish of St. Philip, for the Relief of the Inhabitants who have suffered by the Fire.

ST. CHRISTOPHER's, June 25.

On Friday Evening last, arrived in the Road of Basseterre, the Ship Bell, Robert Adams, Commander, from London, after a pleasant Passage of thirty-two Days from the Lizard. Extract of a Letter from London, brought by the Bell, Captain Adams, dated April 27.

"I do not know any article of News that you will not find in the Papers sent you, therefore need not write you the Lie of the Day. PITT is immortalized for the Repeal of the Stamp and Cyder Acts, and the Irish are going to erect his Statue in every City in the dear Kingdom, as the Man who first saved his Mother, and after that her Children, from Ruin, alluding to Great-Britain and her Colonies.

"Counsellor Norton remarked, that the Zeal Mr. PITT had shewn for the North-Americans and West-Indians amounted to Treason, for which he ought to be sent to the Tower, but the House passed it by; whereupon Mr. PITT himself repeated his Words, still the House took no notice of it. The Boroughs and Corporations have addressed such Members as voted for the Repeals, and vow Vengance against all who endeavoured to obstruct it. The People in the Cyder Counties, and at Birmingham, swear Mr. PITT is an Angel. The next Election for Members will be terrible, and the prevailing Opinion is, that this Parliament will not continue much longer."

On Sunday the 8th Instant, arrived at Antigua, in his Majesty's Ship Lark, Thomas Pye, Esq; Vice-Admiral of the Blue, and relieved Richard Tyrrel, Esq; Rear-Admiral of the White, on the Leeward-Island Station.

CHARLES-TOWN, JULY 15.

ON the Departure of his Excellency Governor Pinfold for England, the Government of Barbados devolved to the Honourable Samuel Rous, Esq; President of his Majesty's Council, a Native of that Island.

His Excellency George Thomas, Esq; Governor in Chief of the Leeward Islands, was to sail from Antigua for England, about the Beginning of this Month.

In the Beginning of May last, as one Welch, an Indian Trader, was going from Fort Prince-George to the Sugar-Town, in the Lower-Cherokee Country, with his half-breed Daughter and her Child, they were set upon by some Northward Indians, who killed and scalped Welch and the Child, but the Woman, being on Horseback, got back to the Fort, though not without being wounded by several Darts the Enemy threw at her in their Pursuit.

About the same Time, one Mr. Boyd, a Trader, from Virginia, with two of his People named Fields and Bourke, were found murdered near Broad-River, on the Road from the Upper-Cherokee Country to Virginia. Mr. Cameron, the Superintendant's Deputy, who arrived in the Upper Towns May 25th, applied to the Chiefs for a Party to go to the Place where Mr. Boyd's Horses were found, in order to search for and bury his Bones; they readily granted his Request, but the many Tracks of the Enemy obliged the Party to return. The Friends of those Indians who were assassinated last Year in Virginia have frequently dropt Threatenings of Revenge against the Virginians in general on that Account, and though the Cherokees to a Man, firmly deny their having any Hand in the Murder of Mr. Boyd and the other two, yet there are those who strongly suspect them.

The Legislature of Virginia hath granted about Five Thousand Pounds Sterling, for carrying on a Trade with the Cherokee Indians, for seven Years, on Account of the Province. The Goods, it is said, are to be sold at no more than the Cost and Charges. Mr. Ross, a Gentleman appointed Factor for the said Trade, arrived lately from Virginia in the Upper-Cherokee Towns; he proposed to the Indians that a Store should be erected on Long-Island, Holston, to be fortified with a Stockade, which they would by no Means agree to, as, they said, that was the best of the Hunting-Ground, which would be entirely spoiled by building a Store there; and that Differences would certainly arise between their young Fellows and the white People, if they should settle so near each other.

They write from Augusta, that a Body of Two Hundred Creek Indians was gone out against the Choctaws. The same Letters add, that the Creeks express strong Suspicions that the English have spirited up the Choctaws to break with them, which, they say, is contrary to Treaty, and all the Talks of the Great King, delivered to them by his beloved Men.

We are sorry to hear, that the Wheat Planters in the Back-Settlements, on the Western Frontiers, who are not an inconsiderable Number, and most of whom place their whole Dependance on the raising of that Grain, are very great Sufferers this Year, many of them losing their whole Crop by the Rust.

On the other Hand, those that have planted Hemp, have in general succeeded so well, that it is certain a very great Quantity will be brought to Market for Exportation, so that this Commodity promises fair to become another valuable Staple.

Madder has lately been planted, and it is said, will produce to Advantage. In short, there are few Things that may not be brought to Perfection here, with a little Pains and Industry; for it is but a few Years since, that scarce a good Cabbage, Turnip, Beet, Carrot, or Irish Patatoes could be found in our Markets; but now they are raised in such Quantity and Perfection, that none of the two last Articles need be imported again.

On Saturday the 5th Instant, the following Address was presented to his Excellency the Governor, viz.

To his Excellency the Right Honourable Lord CHARLES GREVILLE MONTAGU, Captain-General, Governor and Commander in Chief, in and over his Majesty's Province of SOUTH-CAROLINA.

The Humble ADDRESS of the Presbytery of the said Province.

SOUTH-CAROLINA.
